Mrs. Farmer Levels Charges At Allies

A premeditated blast by Councilwoman Virginia Farmer at her fellow councilmen Tuesday night charging violation of the Brown Act, seemed to catch the group unawares necessitating a special meeting Wednesday before the incident could be resolved.

Involved was the appointment of two persons to fill vacancies on the city's Personnel Appeals Board.

In a prepared statement, Mrs. Farmer accused three unnamed council members of violating the state's Sunshine Laws, the Brown Act. However, before the matter was resolved Wednesday night, it appeared that Mrs. Farmer may have implicated herself.

At the beginning of Tuesday night's session as nominations were being made for the appeals board, Mrs. Farmer announced to Mayor George DeJesus that "I would like to read a statement at this time, please."

Mrs. Farmer then complained that the city council was not working "as a team with unity of purpose." She continued: "It appears from my observation to be directed mainly by three members who are abusing the state Sunshine Laws, namely the Brown Act."

"As an example," she continued, "Last Friday afternoon, while I was discussing the agenda items pertaining to Personnel Appeals Board with one other councilman in presence of a witness, I was informed that my views or proposals on an appointee to that board were of no consequence and the councilman declared that he had three people who had agreed to vote for Mr. (Wes) Vaughn.

"The statement on the part of one councilman suggests that these three members of our city council may have held some sort of private executive session in which they decided to vote for Mr. Vaughn while two council persons, the press and the public remained unnotified."

Wednesday night, however, Councilman Donald Holt presented a different version of events.

Referring to Mrs. Farmer's statement of the evening before, Holt declared: "To say the least I was surprised, shocked, amazed and everything else by the statement of Councilwoman Farmer and based on that I have the following statement to give:"

Holt repeated Mrs. Farmer's accusations, including that three members were directing the action of the council.

"I would be more than willing to go back over the voting record of this council. I am quite sure that it would be found that no three members, no matter who they are, are consistently voting the same.

"Maybe some agree more than others," Holt continued, "but is it not possible that the voters have elected council members that stand the same on their platform issues.

"I do not agree that three council members are directing the council and I am by no means any part of any coalition that is meeting in secret. We were all elected to carry forth the views and opinions of the voters. And so to carry out this vote, I feel obligated to talk to all other members of this council on any given issue in order to convince that other council member of the merit of that particular agenda item that may be coming before us.

"It has been my observation that this council has gone to extremes to make sure that we operate within the Brown Act." To specifically answer the allegation on the conversation that took place last Friday here at City Hall, Holt said that he believed

A Closer Look

People do not always think kindly enough of a city to want to give it presents.

This is true even in Placentia.

Anyone who has gone through a Placentia zoning battle...and there have been a number considering the size of the territory...has discovered how frustrating and time consuming it can be to discover that someone, in some hallowed hall, has changed the game plan.

You may have bought a home, or invested in a business and expected the surroundings to stay the same, only to discover that somebody has something more fortuitous...for somebody else, in mind.

This game of chess is still being played out and some former city councils have become distinguished for setting it up.

Pity the poor property owner, who does not own half the countryside but just his own little home base.

A story run recently in the Placentia Courier brought a deluge of telephone calls. It concerned the people who live in new expensive homes near the main line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. None of these people we talked to in the homes came from anyplace close to here. Or, they felt then, they would have realized what they were getting into.

There were also several calls from long time residents declaring, "I knew it, I knew it, I knew it!" These were most sympathetic and commiserating.

That change in zoning is already accomplished and homes are rising on the premises. It has been pointed out in city council sessions that the area by the railroad, understandably, was at one time zoned industrial, which would seem appropriate.

But industrial land, in our opinion, has developed mighty slowly in the pleasant place to live. And still leaves a great deal to be desired.

So we have homes by a busy railroad track. We also have something else.

In the process of development is a corporation yard. That is where the

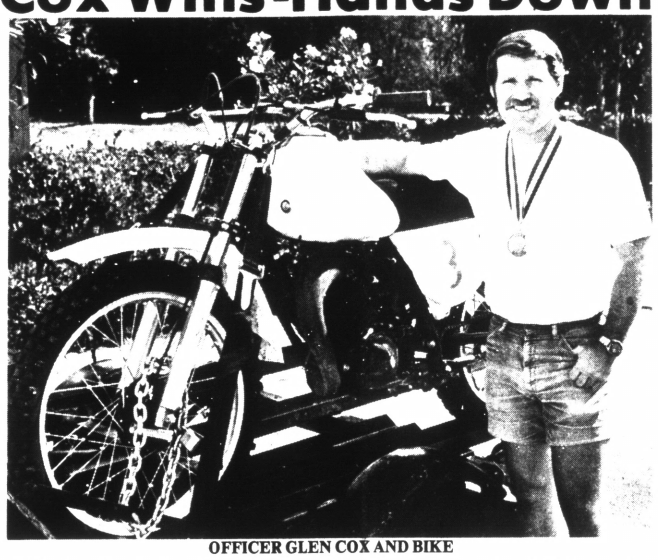
Officer Cox Wins-Hands Down

Erring motorists beware. Placentia Police Officer Glen Cox has just won a gold medal.

Any foolhardy driver who has in mind outrunning Officer Cox, who pilots one of Placentia's police automobiles, should be advised as to how the local officer earned the decoration.

The name of the sport is Motocross, 125 cc category. And, speaking of outdoor sports, the tenth annual California Police Olympics has just concluded in San Jose, where thousands of law enforcement officers from throughout California, participated in a variety of events.

Among these was Motocross, billed as one of the most strenuous activities in the competition. This event, a spokesman from the Placentia Police Department reports, uses more muscle energy and calories per minute than any other listed.



OFFICER GLEN COX AND BIKE

This is a description of what took place:

"Imagine yourself on one of 30 roaring motorcycles, anxiously awaiting the gun to start the race. At the signal you drag race up a straightaway into a banked, sweeping left turn. You come full bore down a washboard, through a whoop-dee-do, into a gully

Crossing Guard Irritable Subject

Indications that Placentia City Council members, who are required to spend a good deal of time together, may be getting on each other's nerves, seemed in evidence Tuesday night.

At the end of a tumultuous session, Mrs. Jean Pappas, clerk of the board of trustees of the Placentia Unified School District, addressed the body to plead for a crossing guard for an indoctrination period at the corner of Bastanchury Road and Kraemer Boulevard.

Mrs. Pappas' eloquence reversed the vote from four votes no, one yes, recorded previously, to a unanimous yes vote Tuesday night.

After Mrs. Pappas left the city council chambers and as a non-agenda item, Councilman Jack Gomez took issue with Mayor George DeJesus over the fact that he had called for use of the electric voting board on the argumentative item.

Gomez had previously spoken in favor of following the advice of Placentia Police Chief Norman Traub, who had stated at an earlier session that city policy did not permit a crossing guard at the

Bradford Home Seen As Hospitality House

A Hospitality House that would encompass the Placentia Chamber of Commerce and possible office space for civic and community groups, along with individual or class instruction areas, may be the package that the Bradford House Blue Ribbon Committee will present by September 21 to the Placentia City Council.

Indications were this week that the Placentia Chamber of Commerce will indicate their willingness to become a tenant in the Bradford House if the structure is brought back to its condition three years ago when it was given to the city and the Chamber does not incur additional expense beyond its current budget.

Mrs. Rose Lembke, president of the Chamber stated that the group could not afford to increase its overhead, However, within those guidelines, a poll of the executive board had confirmed the organization's previous position that it was interested in being a resident in the heritage home.

With the chamber as a possible nucleus, Blue Ribbon committee members Thursday night itemized possible uses for the home of the

PUSD Classifieds Seek New Proposal

An unexpected "initial proposal" was presented to trustees of the Placentia Unified School District last Monday night by the district's 460 classified or non-teaching employees.

The comprehensive 67-page document will receive a special public hearing at 8 p.m. Monday, August 30 in the board room of the Administration Office, 1301 East Orangethorpe Avenue, Placentia, the board announced.

The more expansive proposal caught district trustees and superintendents of schools, John O. Tynes by surprise. Tynes stated: "I didn't know that this was coming. It kind of throws a kink in things. But we'll follow the letter of the law."

The classified employees, members of the California School Employees Association, previously had submitted a three-page proposal seeking a 12 per cent general salary increase, a cost of living contingency fund, a fully paid fringe benefit package, including dental coverage.

Other requests at that time were for adjustments in summer session secretarial-clerical salaries, half-paid benefits for three-hour employees, benefits for retired employees and their spouses and a retirement option at age 55. In addition the employees are asking more vacation after seven years and a paid holiday during spring recess.

Mrs. Beverly Moreau, a secretary, and chairperson of the local CSEA chapter, who presented the proposal told trustees that the new document contains everything set forth in the June requests.

A position paper from the trustees side of the bargaining table was offered at a public hearing last Monday night but may have become obsolete with the new "initial"

Lights Out In 2,000 Homes

Night owls in 2,000 Placentia homes found their electrical supply suddenly cut off early Sunday morning at the same time a 17-year-old Orange youth fell asleep at the wheel of his father's Buick and struck a light pole.

The collision took place at 2:55 a.m. near Rose and Palm Drives.

Norman De Vilbiss, city area manager for Southern California Edison Company in Fullerton, said the pole which was sheered off at its base, happened to have the company's underground feed cable attached to it. Power went off in the surrounding area but was turned back on for most of the customers in 39 minutes. However, 63 units in the Broadmoor Homes were without power for 12 hours.

The driver of the car was uninjured, Placentia police report and did not require medical care.

Tax Rate Decision Postponed

The setting of Placentia's tax rate, determining the amount of city taxes residents will pay next year, was postponed to a special meeting Tuesday night to allow city council members more time for discussion.

City Administrator Edwin Powell this year has made no recommendation for council action. Since the inauguration of the city's utility tax, Powell, over the past five years, has recommended annual cuts of a few cents in the tax rate.

Expected to be discussed by council members were matters pertaining to how and for what purposes the utility tax will be used and whether it will be diminished and eventually eliminated.

Discussion at the city council meeting a week ago centered around a possible economic decline, which would affect city revenues and whether to reduce the tax rate by a part or all of the eight cents not needed to fund the current budget.

The eight cent reduction would mean a saving to individual taxpayers of $6.60 and a new tax rate of $1.14 per $100 assessed valuation for the city.

Other dialogue concerned placing the windfall in the reserve fund which is lower than the 10 per cent previous councils have declared preferable. Reserves are now at 5.8 per cent in the $6.5 million 1976-77 budget.

BEAR'S THE WORSE FOR WEAR--Flags at Placentia's Civic Center were showing age this week. In fact not all of the California Bear appeared to still be there. One of the Bicentennial Flag's was ravelling. At the Veteran's Memorial Fountain in Kraemer Park the Bear has become entwined in the lanyard line and has appeared that way for several weeks. The city may need to invest in some new banners for this Bicentennial year.

Council OKs Cul-De-Sac On Alta Street

A swap of land between the Placentia Calvary Church and the City of Placentia will further plans for cul-de-sacing Alta Street at the southern boundaries of the Calvary Church property.

The area is in back of the Calvary Church which is located at Chapman and Bradford Avenues. The approved construction is one of the first steps in plans for the widening of Chapman Avenue between Murray Street and Angelina Drive.

The Placentia City Council Tuesday night unanimously approved the proposal, one of three alternatives offered. It is expected to cost approximately $7,150. The plan will cul-de-sac the street at the southern end of the Calvary Church land, combining the two properties the church owns on either side of Alta Street. The design also provides an alley westward.

The exchange of land will involve a plot of church property needed to finish the cul-de-sac and the abandoned part of Alta Street which reverts to the church.

Conflict Code Adoption Withheld

Continuation of a public hearing on 55-page Conflict of Interest Code applicable to members of the Placentia City Council and the City Administrator, will be held before the copious plan is approved.

The adoption of a code has been decreed by state legislation.

Council members last Tuesday night continued their perusal of a code until their meeting set for September 7.

Dirty Dogs? Don't Delay It's Dish Pan Day

The Placentia Recreation Department will sponsor a Dog Wash on Saturday, September 11, at 1 p.m. in Kraemer Park.

Everyone is invited to bring his favorite dog down to be washed and the cost is only 50 cents, the department advises.

Shampoo, wash tubs and brushes will all be provided. Dog obedience instructor, Sue Rucker will be supervising the wash and giving tips on pet care.

Be sure not to miss the first Dog Wash in Placentia, the department invites. For further information, call 993-8232.

Roller Rink May Locate In Placentia

A roller skating rink, long sought here for use of the city's youth, may become a reality if sanction is given by the city's governing bodies.

Application was anticipated Tuesday night by Leonard Smith of Anaheim, to build a 23,450 square foot roller skating rink on Rose Drive just north of Imperial Highway.

The building, as proposed, would be white and would contain, beside the rink, a concession stand, skate rack, lockers, game room, restrooms, pro shop, party room, observation area, dressing room and office.

city will keep all its heavy equipment and store other miscellaneous objects. None of this, however, will be in mothballs. It has to be constantly run back and forth.

Luckily for the city, the ground for the corporation yard was a gift from the generous couple, the late Edward Backs and Mrs. Angeline Kraemer Backs. What they gave, along with a number of other extremely beneficent donations, represents a bundle of money.

Unfortunately now, this to be high-walled, beautifully landscaped corporation yard will be located perhaps in one of the most unlikely spots in the world. Adjoining a golf course. And facing $100,000 homes. Now, that's planning of some sort.

Nothing's very far away in Placentia. The boundaries won't permit it. Would it be possible to sell the corporation yard for a site for more beautiful homes, which would probably be far enough removed from the railroad track, since the area is north of Chapman Avenue? Could the corporation yard be removed to an industrial area?

Not too long ago, the Ontiveros Adobe and the beautiful grounds surrounding it, were available for $30,000 an acre on nearby Crowther Avenue. We understand the price is higher now. That is industrial zoning.

We also realize that areas that have producing oil wells can complicate things. We would dislike seeing matters become anymore complicated.

The city is now in the process of interviewing architects and engineers to assure us that we will have a beautiful corporation yard. Right up to the time we put it in use. And those trucks and the rest of the motorized machines begin to roll by.

Demotion Hearing Scheduled

A hearing on the demotion of veteran Police Sgt. Gene Cason, to Patrolman status, has been scheduled for Thursday, August 26 in the Placentia City Council Chambers, it was reported this week.

A hastily assembled Personnel Appeals Board, which had dwindled to one member, will hear Cason's plea.

The board now consists of Art Winney, a hold over member, selected chairman; vice chairman, Loammi Hoopaw, a banker and Wally Curl, principal of Ruby Drive Elememtary School.

Hearing time is set for 7:30 p.m. The hearing has not been declared either open or closed to the public, with that decision resting with the appellant, Lee Sale Director of Personnel for the city, explained.

Gas Tax Measure Defeated

California Senate Bill 100, which would have added three cents additional tax to each gallon of gasoline died last week in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The tax now is seven cents on each gallon of gasoline and the proposed additional three cents in a five year period, was expected to generate $340 million for use on highways, mass transit and streets and roads.

The measure considered recently by the Placentia City Council, which took a position vote, also went down to defeat here. Three city council members opposed the increase and Mayor George De Jesus and Councilman Donald Holt supported it.

The bill received only one yes vote in committee, with eleven required for passage.

Letters To The Editor

Plea For Crossing Aid

To the Placentia City Council

Dear Sirs:

May I sincerely request that you reconsider your decision to deny the request for a crossing guard at the intersection of Kraemer and Bastanchury? Is there not a possible compromise available by having a crossing guard or a policeman at this intersection for a maximum of sixty days while the education or orientation of the little people using this crossing is taking place?

I well know that there are times when it is extremely difficult but most important to adhere to policies and ordinances. However, there are other times when a body of decision-makers such as you must consider its priorities. It seems to me one of your first priorities must be the protection of citizens.

Therefore, I ask you to not adhere to the letter of your street crossing ordinance for this one-time period of sixty days while these children are learning their new route to school. This period of time would be a cooperative effort between the school and city to help these children learn how to cross safely. I am sure you will agree the potential for an accident is there, as this is one of the main intersections in the city, wide and with the median strip that can be confusing.

As the opening of school approaches, these citizens affected by the school boundary change will be apprehensive about the safety of their children and will be calling you and me for assurance that everything has been done within our power to protect these children. I hope you will choose to reconsider this item as a short-term exception-to-the-rule that will directly benefit this area.

I will greatly appreciate your thought and wisdom.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Arnold P. [Jan] Pappas
Clerk, Board of Trustees
Placentia Unified School District

Alta Cul-De-Sac

The alternative selected by the council was the least expensive of the three proposed. Another would have pushed the cul-de-sac further north at a cost of $8,250 and a third plan would have realigned Alta Street with Anned Drive with a $11,800 designation. Orange County is expected to pay half of the costs.

No one spoke from the audience on either side of the issue.

The move, which could affect driving patterns in the instance that more apartments are built in the immediate area, would not innundate Center Street, it was declared which was deemed capable of handling estimated traffic from the 670 vehicles a day currently using the street up to a possible load of 1,800.

Mayor Pro Tem William Rashford speaking in favor stated "I feel this is the logical thing to do. I'm in favor."

Festival Plans Get Green Light

An effort to make the 12th annual Placentia Heritage Festival Days a well attended and financially successful event, is under pursuit by the celebration's board of directors.

Approval has been received from the Placentia City Council to bring in carnival rides for the festival, but without the carnival atmosphere. Booths will be available for Placentia civic groups who wish to man them for the four day amusement rides part of the festivity.

The nine-day festival is expected to operate this year from October 2 through 10 with rides available Thursday through the final Sunday. The site for the carnival selected is the southeast corner of the city's main intersection, Kraemer and Yorba Linda Boulevards.

A contract is being signed with Walt Pinney Productions of Buena Park, for $1,000 to coordinate the carnival and the game and food booths.

Approval has also been received from the city council to reverse the usual parade route, with the staging area set this year on Chapman Avenue, east of Bradford Avenue. The parade will proceed north on Bradford Avenue to Madison Avenue, east on Madison to Kraemer Boulevard, north on Kraemer to Yorba Linda Boulevard, where it will turn right on Yorba Linda and right on Palm Drive to the former Michaels Market area.

Parade trophies will be awarded at the carnival site.

The Festival board at its meeting last week also planned extra events for the festival including a week-long Placentia version of Almost Anything Goes, a table tennis show and tournament, an arm wrestling exhibition, a Pet Show and a three to five mile marathon race.

The annual Placentia Chamber of Commerce pancake breakfast will be held either the opening Saturday, October 2 or Sunday, October 3 along with an art show sponsored by the Placentia Art Association and a sidewalk chalk art contest for youngsters.

Water District Drops Rate One Cent

The Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, from which the Southern California Water Company, which services Placentia, buys supplemental water, announced its tax rate this week.

The rate at 12 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation is one cent lower than last year's.

The new levy is based on a budget of $193,229,000 and a total assessed valuation for the district's six-county area of about $45.7 billion, an increase of 15.4 per cent over last year's figure.

The 1976-77 budget shows a drop from the previous year of $10 million in construction expenditures, from $39,800,000 to $29,928,000.

On the other hand, operation and maintenance costs are expected to increase by an estimated $5,566,000 largely resulting from new District facilities coming on line to distribute northern water from the State Water Project.

Last year's MWD budget totaled $242,150,000. Of that amount, however, $50 million represented a one-shot expenditure to redeem bond anticipation notes. Without that, the 1975-76 budget would have been $192,150,000 or roughly one million dollars less than the 1976-77 budget.

MWD provides supplemental water in the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego and Ventura. The area contains a population of nearly 11 million.

Mrs. Farmer Charges

that he is the councilman Councilwoman Farmer was referring to in her statement.

Holt stated that during the course of the discussion at City Hall, "I may have made what I thought to be an observation or a reading of potential council votes, in reference to the appointment of Mr. Vaughn."

"But in no way did I indicate," Holt stated, "that I had three, as councilwoman Farmer states, who had agreed to vote for Mr. Vaughn. At no time did I diminish or inform Mrs. Farmer her voting rights, position, views or proposals were of no consequence."

"The interesting thing about this Mrs. Farmer," Holt said strongly, "is that you were one of those three votes that I thought I had for Mr. Vaughn."

Holt added that he thought Mrs. Farmer would have been better advised to have approached him directly with the allegations or to have called for an executive session.

Mrs. Farmer also complained in her Tuesday night statement that she had not received Vaughn's application until 7:15 that night and said that she had conferred with deputy county counsel before making her statement.

Mayor Pro Tem William Rashford was the first to answer the charges: "Virginia, these are serious allegations," he began, "and I would like to say for the record that tonight was the first time I heard of or saw the application of Mr. Vaughn. I feel that I have had no...and I don't know if I'm included in that threesome...but I have talked to nobody about this matter and I hope that you are being very careful about your allegations."

At the Wednesday session, Mayor George DeJesus led the proceedings with his statement: "Councilwoman Virginia Farmer, reading from a prepared statement, made some very serious allegations. These allegations have cast a shadow of doubt on certain members and questioned their integrity. To let these allegations go unanswered is to give them credence and validity.

"Councilwoman Farmer," DeJesus continued, "you have not merely suggested, you have directly accused three members by your statement of violating the Brown Act as it appears from your observation. I submit that you have no such observation, proof or indication of that violation and I challenge your statement."

"I have deducted this mathematically," DeJesus added. "There are five members; you have made the accusation, consequently there are four left. Mr. Rashford has disclaimed any connection. I now emphatically also disclaim any violation. Who then are the remaining three members? Where and when did this meeting take place? Who is the witness?

In rebuttal, Mrs. Farmer added: "I do not feel that I made loose allegations. I can substantiate what I said. I thought it over carefully and in the interest of unity, I do not wish to pursue it and I'm not a liar," Placentia's first elected councilwoman added.

Mrs. Farmer also responded to Mayor Pro Tem Rashford's observations Tuesday night that she was being very careful "because I didn't name names and I requested a count on the voting board. And I hope that we do not have that situation. It appeared to me that we did and that was why I spoke out. It appears tonight, since that time, that we do not seem to have that situation existing."

which requires a jump to get out.

"Then you have to make an off-cambre left turn, keeping the front end down. You go through the gears to gain speed down the straightaway. Then--quick into first gear--watch the tree! A steep downgrade--get off the front brake--and you're across the finish line, which marks the first leg of the course.

intersection because it was fully signalized and did not meet other criteria.

"I would rather that we take that (Traub's) recommendation," Gomez advocated.

Mayor George DeJesus countered: "I accept the staff's position. I would not want to take on the responsibility of someone being hurt or killed at that corner, without taking every effort to protect them. I am here at the will of the people and that's what I want to do."

Gomez: "I don't want you to misinterpret me. I'm as concerned as you and I think we all are and we're not here to say that just because we don't do that, we hope to God and pray that no child ever gets hurt either at that intersection or any intersection. We have a policy. Our chief has spoken of it. The policy that we have seems to be fine."

After the vote, Gomez brought up the subject again. "I would like for the council to take another look at the school crossing guard policy," he began. "I'll tell you why. It's OK for us to change our vote here, but I noticed something else here tonight. It was the only time you called for a roll call vote," he admonished the mayor, "because some of us were speaking up to uphold the policy we already had."

"I didn't appreciate that one single bit. But that's fine. I know better than to vote against a subject like that. Now if we have a policy we can't live up to, then I think we need some changes. We turned it down two weeks ago. We had a strong person here tonight, the head of the school board and now we changed our minds, which says that the policy isn't right. If we're going to change it, let's change it for everybody."

DeJesus: "You had a perogative to vote any way you wished."

Gomez: "That's the only roll call vote you've called on tonight. On the ordinances you haven't called roll call votes but you called for that one! I have my reasons why you called it," Gomez added testily.

DeJesus: "It is your perogative Mr. Gomez and anytime you think this meeting is not being conducted properly, I can be removed from the chair."

Gomez: "It isn't that. It isn't that you aren't conducting....." DeJesus broke in sharply: "Thank you for the input." Gomez: "Don't cut me off Mr. Mayor, I have a few more things to say. OK? I would appreciate it if the council would ask the staff to review this policy."

DeJesus: "Your point is well made. I thank you for your input. The staff is so directed."

The major intersection will have a crossing guard for 60 days to assist and instruct students who must cross Kraemer Boulevard to reach Brookhaven Elementary School from newly transferred districts.

Mrs. Pappas' letter to the city council in plea for the crossing guard appears on this page.

Bradford Hospitality House

founder of the city of Placentia, Albert Sumner Bradford. Among uses mentioned were rentable rooms for civic groups who may need office space.

Also under consideration in the house are cultural activities for all ages and enrichment instruction for children. These would be revenue producing to fall within the perimeters of not spending tax payer funds for maintaining the home as an historical monument.

Mrs. Claris Jones, whose husband is in charge of the arboretum at California State University at Fullerton, where a Heritage House has recently been established with Dr. and Mrs. Jones assisting, forwarded the concept of a Hospitality House at the committee meeting.

The home would be used as Chamber of Commerce headquarters and to welcome newcomers and businesses to the city. Also mentioned was the possibility of the chamber using a private side entrance on Bradford Avenue, which opens into a large room. Still to be discussed are parking facilities.

The chairman reported current estimates on the Bradford property of a replacement value between $250,000 and $300,000. "This is something that the city owns and it has heritage behind it," Mrs. Jones described. "Southern California is growing so quickly and so rapidly, anything that even hints of the past is gone before anyone has a chance to say anything about it. If you save something it is far more valuable than a new building."

Mrs. Jones also pointed out that the Bradford House is a larger structure than the Muckenthaler Center in Fullerton, which was a gift to that city by the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Muckenthaler. Adella Muckenthaler was a sister of Placentia resident, Mrs. Angeline Kraemer Backs.

Mrs. Dorothy Freeman, former principal of Wagner Elementary School, urged that a city-wide survey be conducted to ascertain specifically what the desires and needs of the citizens of Placentia are in cultural, enrichment and other services.

She explained that the city has a number of activities for residents up to the age of 20 but few for the group between 20 and 50 or 55.

Mrs. Sylvia Hoskins, president of the Placentia Founders Society, reported that all the inside doorknobs of the Bradford home have recently been removed. The house has been a victim of persons unknown who recently removed two antique mirrors from the premises and had partially removed two valuable fireplaces.

proposal and its expanded demands.

John Press, president of the board stated: "I think it would be best for us to proceed on the basis that this is an initial proposal and avoid the possibility of any future misunderstanding in regards to our negotiation process.

Copies of the contract proposed are available at the District Education Center and all district schools. The public is invited to read the proposal and express their views at the public hearing, it was announced.

Use Your Vote, Davisson Urges

SURVEYING THE PAST, Dean Davisson [center], speaker at last week's Placentia Chamber of Commerce luncheon, looks over the farm equipment collection at the George Key Ranch, now designated an historical site. With him are Placentia treasurer Robert Lyons and Lois Keenan, who was Davisson's Placentia chairman when he ran for the 69th district state assembly seat in the recent election.

In the New England states, you have to have 50 pounds sterling in order to vote and down south the requirement is to own 5,000 acres of land.

But that was 1776, Dean Davisson, former public relations director of Knotts Berry Farm and a candidate for the California state assembly last April told the Placentia Chamber of Commerce luncheon last week.

It's different now, Davisson related. "If you're not registered to vote now, it's very easy. You can fill out a postcard and register to vote. You can register your deceased friends, a vacant lot and then go down and vote them," the speaker warned. "Obviously I'm not in favor of postcard registrations," he expanded.

However. Davisson made it clear, he is in favor of voting and of a strong two party system.

"When the day comes that we don't have a strong two party system, that's the day when you're not going to have a choice of coming to a meeting like this or will our newspaper friends have the option of writing what they feel is news and the way they want to interpret it," Davisson warned.

The speaker also described for Chamber luncheon guests meeting at the Alta Vista Country Club, conditions 200 year ago when the revolutionary Declaration of Independence was written and signed.

Casting the luncheon guests as members of the group who signed the impressive document, Davisson recounted: "What kind of people are you? You signed this document...56 of you. Five of you were captured by the British and tortured as traitors; four of you had your homes burned; two of you had sons killed; two had sons captured and nine fought and died from wounds suffered during the Revolutionary War.

"Twenty-four of you were lawyers or judges, well educated people. Eleven were merchants, business people, ship owners and nine were plantation owners. This is the kind of people that you were."

"Today," Davisson reminded, "you have had a peaceful determination of the representative for the Republican Party. Just a few weeks ago the Democrats went through the same legislative process and elected a man. Two hundred years ago, if you had been living, you would have had to be willing to lay your lives on the line for this kind of government.

Canyon Park 1st Birthday

Carbon Canyon Regional Park will celebrate its first year opening on August 28th. Many "Olinda Leasers" attended the opening dedication ceremonies on August 28, 1975. This occasion has prompted a group of Olinda Old-Timers to make it an annual get-to-gether.

Arrangements have been made with the park to allow space in the Major John L. Armstrong Grove for this gathering where old timers can visit, eat, play or fish.

We want you to call all your known "Olindaeians" to come and make use of these fine facilities, which include picnic tables, tennis courts, children play equipment, lake fishing, and horse-back riding facilities adjacent to the park.

All of the many residents who lived on any of the Olinda Leases are invited to come with their families "to have one of our good old-fashioned parties".

Call Ella Armstrong Post at 1-642-2616, Costa Mesa or Frieda Schubert Smith at 528-7969, Yorba Linda.

Reading Program 'Surprise'

The Yorba Linda library's Summer Reading Program concluded August 7th with a "surprise special".

Approximately 30 parents and children were entertained with a 40 minute magic show presented by Charles Buchanan and Jim Allison, members of the Yorba Linda Kountry Kultivators 4-H Club.

Coin, card and rope tricks were offered by the boys as part of the club's Community Pride project under the leadership of Mrs. Veda Allen.

The club also provided volunteers for the library's Story Hours held in Richard Nixon Park during June and July.

Stirling Student

Yorba Linda's Wayne Hawthrone will be leaving for Scotland within the next week to enter the University of Stirling, where he will be a Junior. The Bio-chemistry major is participating in the University of California Education Abroad program.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By John Payne,
Owner - Reg. Pharmacist
LINDA VISTA PHARMACY

The elderly oriental woman deserves your sympathy... she suffers more from pain than any other category of humans. A group of California doctors studied pain tolerance by inflicting pain in the same way on 40,000 volunteers.

It was found that pain is more painful for women than for men, for the older people than for the young and for orientals than for either blacks or white people. Of these, sex was found to be the most important factor. Even the oldest men are less sensitive to pain than are the youngest women.

When you have pain or discomfort, see your doctor ...then see us to have the prescription filled, promptly and precisely, with the finest of modern medications.

HANDY HINT: Before opening a can of paint, let it stand upside down a few hours...saves a lot of stirring.

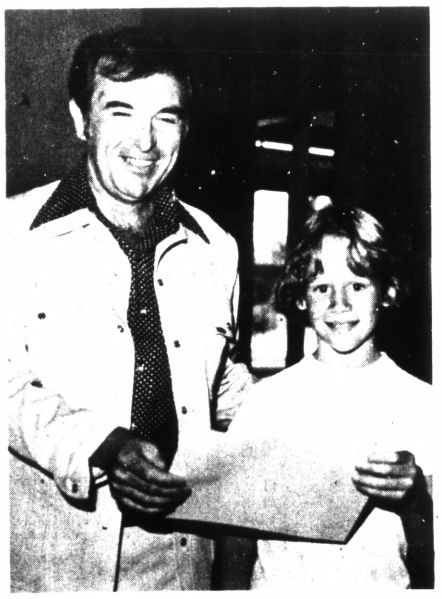
Sierra Vista Boasts Its Own Song

Sierra Vista students will start the new year with a new school song. The song was presented to the students the last week of school at the awards ceremony. Learning it was left for the new school year.

The students were asked to submit entries, using the tune to "There are Many Flags in Many Lands". At the assembly, Johhny Anello presented a certificate and announced the winner--Michelle Harman. Ironically, Michelle is in the territory switching to Brookhaven and thus will not be around to hear her song in use. Hopefully she'll develop new loyalties at Brookhaven to match those she expressed in her Sierra Vista song.



John Anello and the young composer.

Oh, Sierra Vista, we hail thee
We are proud as we can be;
To be part of this, the greatest school
throughout our whole community.

So hurrah for us the Eagles great,
We do our best for you!
We've learned respect and loyalty
And forever true to you we'll be.

Words by Michelle Harman

THE PALO ALTO BUDDY SYSTEM©
SO YOUR CHILD WILL NOT FEEL ALONE.
The first day of school. Mom and Dad, what a big day this is going to be for your child. The world out there is so big, so new; filled with so many things your child has never seen or experienced before.
What an important time to have a friend. A friend who understands.
That's why we think the Buddy System is so special in all of our Palo Alto Preschools. It's important to us and we know it's important to you that your child has someone special to share with. Someone who knows all the ropes and all the neat places on the playground.
Of course, there's another side of the coin as well. For the Buddy. Our Buddy System teaches other young children to be responsible. They learn how to share, how to help other people.
That way everybody wins.
And before you know it, Mom and Dad, your child will have learned his way around so quickly that soon he will come home and tell you he was just assigned a new Buddy, too.
Palo Alto Preschools: For children ages 2½ to 8. Full-day and half-day program available. Hot lunches served. Ask about our new "Before and After School" Program.
(You'll find all of our Preschools located in churches, because we believe in putting our money into education, not buildings. However, we are church located, not affiliated).

Local Firm Hired For Resort

Stoffregen, De Coster and Associates of Placentia have been selected as one of the project architects for a $100 million Rancho Las Palmas Country Club at Rancho Mirage, Palm Desert.

The new country club will accommodate a 500-room Marriott Hotel, a 27 hole golf course and 860 condominium homes in a 360-acre development on Bob Hope Drive.

The first 18 holes of the golf course, 14 of the 25 tennis courts, a 16,000-square-foot clubhouse and pro shop and five two and three bedroom single story condominiums models are now under construction.

Work on the $20 million hotel complex with 200 regular hotel rooms and 300 two-bedroom villas, will start in October. The hotel will include shops, a restaurant, bar, a 12,000-square-foot European style spa and 14,000 square foot convention and banquet facilities.

Condominiums will range in living area from 1,260 to 1,930 square feet and will be in the $50,000 to $80,000 price range. The 27-hole golf course will feature ten lakes. Future plans call for an addition of a $10 million shopping area.

Recreational facilities in addition to the course and courts, will include a 6,000 square foot clubhouse and pro shop and 24 swimming pools.

The MontrealOlympics — A Spectator's View

[Scott Emblidge, Star correspondent who reports on athletic events at Troy High School, and a Yorba Linda resident, has written a report on his trip to Montreal and his attendance at the Olympics. This is the second of a two part article on his experiences. Editor].

By Scott Emblidge

The Stadium itself was remarkable. It seated over 70,000 people (and did not have a bad seat in it) and despite its size, it boasted the fact that it could be cleared of all the speactators within 20 minutes. This was due to the tremendous amount of personnel.

There were always at least three people you had tc show your ticket to in order to find your seat and then you were escorted to that exact seat by an usher. Overall, my experiences in the Stadium indicated that it was an extremely well-run operation.

The next event we attended was volleyball and as it turned out this was one of the most exciting things we saw. We viewed the Russian men destroy Brazil 3-0 and saw an extremely tense match between the Russian and South Korean women.

In volleyball, you play the best of five sets with each set ending when a team accumulates a total of 15 points. In the women's match, Russia took the first set 16-14, Korea won the second 15-12, Russia the third 15-2 and in the fourth set, Korea had a 14-8 lead but lost the set and match 16-14.

It was at the volleyball matches that I thought about one of the pre-Olympic philosophies I had on how the games can be saved from the same fate in four years that they met in Montreal. The interference of politics is what must be avoided in the future and, unlike what happened in Canada, every nation must be allowed to compete.

I thought an easy way to achieve this was to eliminate the nationalism that is associated with the games but that is an impossibility. After seeing the hundreds of Koreans waving flags and cheering for their team, I felt that nationalism was almost an essential part of the Olympics and after all, it is not nationalism that needs elimination, it is the politics (that never should mingle with sports) that should be put to rest.

We then saw days and days of track and field and witnessed some memorable events. We saw Mac Wilkins win the discus throw, Edwin Moses and Michael Shine finish first and second in the 400 meter hurdles, with Moses breaking the world record, Alberto Juantorena of Cuba win the 800 meters, the first of two gold medals he was to win, Viktor Saneyev of the USSR win the gold in the triple jump for the third straight time in the Olympics, and we saw Lasse Viren of Finland win the 5000 meter run thus becoming the only man to win both the 10,000 and 5,000 meters in two consecutive Olympics. And last and best, we saw the legend in his own time, Bruce Jenner, set a world record while winning the grueling decathlon.

Finally, to top off our entire adventure, we attended the boxing finals. The United States had six of their 11 fighters in the finals and what a group of fighters they were with five winning gold medals.

First came little Leo Randolph who was quoted as saying "winning the gold medal is the greatest thing since I turned a Christian," then Howard Davis, a flamboyant fighter who promised his dying mother he would bring home the gold, then the great Sugar Ray Leonard who hung up his gloves after his victory, and to end it all came the Spinks brothers, Mike and Leon, who won their medals in front of their mother who had been given the money to go to Montreal by an anonymous person after an article was printed in a St. Louis newspaper.

Overall, the entire experience was probably the greatest three weeks of my life, but I knew there were still some decisions that had to be made so that these Olympics I enjoyed so much could continue to be held. Personally, I feel that two simple directives are necessary.

First, all countries should be allowed to compete and if the host country refuses entrance to another country, then the games should be withdrawn from the country. The other thing that I feel is necessary is the dropping of the "amateur only" status the Olympics is supposed to carry. I cannot see why people want to protect an ideal that has already been ruined by many communist countries.

If these two suggestions are looked at seriously, I feel that the Olympic Games will be a much more athletic and much less political confrontation between countries and will therefore give as much enjoyment to millions of spectators in the future as they did to my friends and I.

YL Athletes

Cub Scout Pack 786, sponsored by the Latter Day Saints, is bringing home the physical fitness honors. Saturday they handily won the Canyon District Junior Olympics at Chapman College. Consistenly placing in each event and winning most, they tallied 326 points. The nearest competitor had 272, and the average was well below 100.

Earlier this month three of the boys were chosen to represent the Canyon District in the County physical fitness competition. Scoring well there, they went on to district. Ten year old Scott Fenstermacher brought home a bronze medal. His companions were Jeff Sant and Tye Trostad. As might be expected, all three boys brought home the ribbons Saturday.

Also a standout in Saturday's competition was Shannon Wilson, who won all the field events in the 10 year old category. Even the parents got into the act as the leaders' relay won honors.

JAA Football Sets Carnival, Swap Meet

The annual Junior All American Football Carnival and Swap Meet will be held Saturday August 28 at Tuffree Field.

Scrimmages will be held all day long and food and game booths will be open from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Also included in the festivities will be cake walks, a dunking booth and other games for amusement.

The Swap Meet will be of giant size, the organization reports, with many bargains. Proceeds will be used to assist the athletic group in buying new uniforms and equipment for next year.

TELLS STORY

You may wonder why a nation that can land men on the moon...hasn't been able to find a cure for a disease that afflicts over twenty million men, women and children. The Arthritis Foundation wonders too. That's why they are doing all they can to support research and education seeking the cause and cure of this major health problem. If you want to know what's being done to combat arthritis, send for a free leaflet, "The Arthritis Foundation - What It is, What It Does," to the Orange County Branch of the Arthritis Foundation at 900 North Broadway, Santa Ana 92701; or call 547-5591

PRESIDENT'S CUP--Nancy Powell, right, and Doris Lynch, left, had to play an extra hole before Nancy could capture the trophy in the Yorba Linda Country Club's annual competition for women members.

Handbell Choir Organized

A second handbell choir is being organized at the Placentia Presbyterian Church, the group reports this week. Directing will be Cheryl Rhynard, Karen Lawrence and Jean Schwartzkopf.

Bell ringers who would like to join the choir are invited to attend on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. Persons interested should have some musical background, the directors advise.

KOREAN TEEN SINGERS will present a concert at 7 p.m. August 29 at the First Baptist Church. It is billed as "Salute to America."

Korean Singers

The Korean Teen Life Singers will present a musical progam at the First Baptist Church on Sunday evening, August 29, at seven o'clock. This "Salute To America" program has been presented in 24 states to over 500 high schools and 600 churches, plus many service clubs and civic organizations.

They are accompanied by the Rev. Paul Park and Dr. Ben Song, the first Korean missionary to America. They have come to America to Say "Thank You." They are grateful for the American supported orphanage where they grew up and were educated. They are grateful for the American missionaries who brought the Christian message to the Land of Morning Calm over 90 years ago.

Continental Orchestra

The nationally known "Continental Orchestra" with special guests "New Hope America" will present a live concert of contemporary Christian music on Sunday, August 29, at the Evangelical Free Church, 5320 Richfield Road, Yorba Linda, at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Their two-hour performance, "A Celebration of Musical Praise," includes anthems, hymn medleys, spirituals and contemporary gospel music especially arranged for the Continental Orchestra.

Also, they will feature selections from "The Apostle", and other Cam Floria musicals, plus a stirring Bi-Centennial production -- "Here's Life, America!"

Selected by audition from thousands of high school and college age young people across the nation and around the world, the members of the Continental Orchestra are highly trained and talented musicians.

Consisting of 30 instrumentalists, including a full string section, they are completely equipped with sound and lighting for the staging of their performance.

Appearing with the Continental Orchestra will be special guest vocalists, New Hope America. These outstanding vocalists will join the orchestra for several segments of the program.

SOCIETY

Unique Quilt On Display

A 64" x 93" hand-appliqued quilt depicting the pictorial history of Orange County from the early 1900's to the present will be hung on permanent display at the old Santa Ana Courthouse.

The Bicentennial quilt represents eight months of hard work by an adult education patchwork and quilting class sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of the Rancho Santiago Community College District.

Seventeen women ranging in age from 30 to 70 from four Orange County communities each sewed one pictorial segment of the quilt.

The quilt was presented to the Orange County Historical Society at their monthly meeting held at Bowers Museum. Arrangements are being made to send it to the old courthouse which has been restored and designated as a historial monument.

"I'm proud of my students and am pleased with the quilt, but I would never attempt to do another one," said Joan Fitzgerald, the class instructor. "Most of the work was done by the students. All I did was try to coordinate their efforts and assemble it."

From Placentia, Mimi Fergson sewed a bird sanctuary and Mrs. Fitzgerald, the instructor, sewed an early mining camp.

Juniors Plan Coffees

The Placentia Junior Round Table will give an informal coffee in the home of Mary Dunham, membership chairman, 1014 Goldenrod, Placentia, on Wednesday, September 1, at 2 p.m.

The club welcomes perspective members who would like to come and find out what "Jr's" is all about. Junior Round Table is a community service organization dedicated to serving its community in the fields of: Americanism, health, fine arts, safety, education, mental health and youth.

It is affiliated with the California Federation of Women's Clubs, Junior Membership, and is open to any woman between the ages of 18 and 35. President, Marty Rogers and Cecilia Brown, First Vice, will be on hand to answer any questions.

For more information contact Cyndy Landwehr, 524-7303 or Mary Dunham, 528-8627. For those working girls who are interested, an evening coffee is being planned for mid-September. A date will be announced later.

CFWC Sets Conference

Orange District, California Federation of Women's Clubs has scheduled it's annual Summer Conference beginning at 9:30 a.m., August 26, at the First Christian Church, Fullerton.

Mrs. Ralph C. Fore, Orange District president will conduct the business meeting.

Woman's Club of Fullerton members are hostessing and preparing decorations and table settings for the all day event.

Members attending from area Federated women's clubs will be: Mmes. Leo J. Brough, Gerald Stack, Bruce Burmaster, Yorba Linda Woman's Club; Eugene O'Neal, Bruce Fink, James Redman; Placentia Round Table.

Following the opening sessions, officers and chairmen of the district's 34 affiliated clubs will attend workshops covering the various philanthropic, educational and civil activities of the federation.

WEDDING

Jill Hayek became the bride of Mike McCluskey on July 31 in a ceremony at the Redeemer Lutheran Church, Placentia, with the Rev. Erwin Walz officiating.

Juniors Save Instruments

A new project of the Placentia Junior Round Table, Operation M.U.S.I.C. (Mothers United To Save Instruments for Children) begins this week.

The purpose of this unique program is to collect musical instruments which are not being used and donate them to the Placentia Unified School District for use in the musical education program offered in the public schools.

Many young children who would like to participate in the music program are unable to do so because of the expense involved in purchasing or renting their own instruments and the shortage of school owned instruments. There are many people who have instruments gathering dust in a closet that could be used to fill this need.

Instruments donated under Operation MUSIC would remain the property of the school district. They would be loaned to children for use during the school year. The district has its own facilities for repairing instruments, so they are happy to get even broken instruments.

Anyone interested in donating a musical instrument may call Judi Olsen at 524-8339 or Sharon Galassi at 528-6808. School is beginning soon and the Juniors hope to collect a number of instruments and present them to the school district before the end of September, the organization reports.

Morrow - deJonge Wed

Katherine Anne Morrow of Yorba Linda and Thomas Lee deJonge of Downey were united in marriage, July 10th, in an afternoon ceremony at the United Methodist Church of Yorba Linda with Rev. Norris Barnes and Rev. Dean Humbert officiating.

The bride wore a beautiful long white dress of shear chiffon with nylon lining, short sleeves, square neck and lace trim carrying a lovely cascade bouquet with white orchids in the center.

Patricia Morrow, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, with Marla Haskill, Becky Reid, Cari Blackwood, Natalie Hughes, Lorrie Hyma and Carrie Otis serving as bridesmaids. The attendants wore rainbow color dresses of eyelet carrying a bouquet of flowers to match their dresses.

Tim Carter was the best man. Carianne DeWoody was the flower girl and Jason Morrow as ring bearer.

Ushers were Clifford Morrow, brother of the bride, Jim Felt, Dennis Allard, Steve deWoody, William Tell and Charlie Brockus.

A garden party followed the ceremony at the home of the bride for over 200 guests, with Cheryl Morrow, sister in law of the bride, as guest book attendant.

The newly-weds are making their home in Rowland Heights, California.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Morrow of Yorba Linda, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. deJonge of Downey, California.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Albert P. Morrow, Sr. of Boca Raton, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mohrmann of Del Rae Beach, Florida, Mrs. Samuel Cozzens and daughter Luanne of Spring Grove, Pennsylvania, Mrs. Anthony Schreiber and daughter Barbara of Jersey Shores, Pennsylvania, Carrie Otis of Browns Mills, New Jersey and Cherry Gorden of Santa Barbara, California.

AAUW Seeks New Members

The Placentia-Yorba Linda Branch of the American Association of University Women will be holding several coffees for prospective members during the next few weeks.

Membership is open to all women who hold baccalaureate or higher degrees from approved colleges and universities. AAUW aims to develop and maintain high standards of education, to support broader opportunities for women and to strengthen the fellowship among university women that their influence may be felt in the solution of community and national problems.

An evening coffee will be held in the home of Mrs. Alan Stewart, 524-6218, tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. On September 9 Mrs. Robert Cooper, 993-3992, will hostess a coffee at 10 a.m.

The organization's annual fall membership coffee will be held Saturday, September 18, 10 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Steven Stredler, 19041 Country Club Lane, Yorba Linda.

Interested women are invited to call Mrs. Alan Stewart, vice president, 524-6218, for additional information.

A FIESTA IS ALWAYS FUN and the party above is no exception. This occasion was the Cinco de Mayo held at McFadden Elementary School this year. Corina Gonzales, Maria de Refugia Torres and Irma Ayala show students how its done and their eager proteges are Aurora Ayala and Sandra Orozco.

S. American Students Need Homes

Families are needed in the Placentia area to host foreign exchange students from South America. These students arriving in September, will live and study in the United States for one year, as part of the International Cultural Exchange.

An ICXchange family is judged on its ability to foster an environment of international understanding within the home. Size, wealth or age of the host family members are not the most important ingredients, the group states.

More information on the ICXchange program may be obtained by calling Mrs. Jo Ann Brown at 633-1956 in Orange.

Lois Herron Hostess At Historical Fete

Lois Herron, Placentia, will be one of the hostesses when, as a prelude to the fall season of monthly programs, members and guests of the Orange County Historical Society convene at the Sherman Foundation Gardens in Corona del Mar on Sunday, August 29, for The Summer Party.

Planned for the hours from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., the afternoon will be highlighted with a talk by Dr. William O. Hendricks, director of research for the Sherman Foundation Library, who will describe the history and functions of the Sherman Foundation and the gardens.

Reservations are necessary, and members should contact Vivien Owen at 544-2361.

Lots of Money

It is estimated that the economic loss resulting from pedestrian accidents exceeds 200 million dollars annually.

Valencia Student Chosen

Twenty-six Chicano high school students from Southern California and beyond are attending the two-week MITE (Minority Introduction To Engineering) program at the University of California, Irvine.

In the group is Valencia High School student Olga Luguin.

The UCI MITE Program, which began August 15 and ends August 28, includes classes and laboratory demonstrations in computers and mechanical, electrical, civil, environmental and biomedical engineering as well as tours of industrial facilities in the area. Sessions in career planning, college orientation and counseling and various social events round out the two-week program.

The participating students were recommended for the program by their high school counselors. Expenses, including meals and housing for the participants in university residence halls, are paid by the sponsoring agency through grants from industry and nonprofit foundations.

Mail Order Towels Not as Claimed

Many consumers across the nation were disappointed lately when they responded to a mail order advertisement in magazines, newspapers, and circulars for "Towels".

The "towels", as advertised by various subsidiary companies of the American Consumer Company of Philadadelphia, are described as "unwoven polyester and rayon-blend", which does not lead the average consumer to conclude that the "towels" are actually felted sheets similar to those sold in stores as disposable wipe-up cloths, at a much lower price.

The Postal Inspector's Office has charged these companies with selling their "Towels" with false representation in the advertisements.

Realizing that such a dubious ad only tends to discredit all advertising, one newspaper which had run the ad later told its readers in a news article not to buy the so-called "towels".

The Orange County Office of Consumer Affiars has received complaints from dissatisfied consumers who responded to the ad, and advises other County residents to contact Consumer Affairs' main office at 834-6100 if any difficulty is encountered in obtaining a refund from the company.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 76-0-114

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF PLACENTIA AMENDING CHAPTER 23 OF THE PLACENTIA MUNCIPAL CODE RELATING TO THE CALCULATION OF PARKING SPACES

The City Council of the City of Placentia does hereby ordain as follows:

1) There is added Section 23.04.033 to read in full as follows:

"Section 23.04.033 Adjusted Gross Floor Area. Adjusted gross floor area means, when used to calculate off-street parking, gross floor area less the aggregate area devoted to indivisible public access ways (such as corridors, elevators and foyers) and other similar such uses which do not, as a practical matter, result in higher building occupancy."

2) Section 23.04.275 is deleted.

3) There is added Section 23.04.323 to read in full as follows:

"Section 23.04.323 Gross Floor Area. Gross floor area means the sum of the gross horizontal areas of the several floors of the building excluding areas used for accessory garage purposes and such basement and cellar areas as are devoted exclusively to uses accessory to the operation of the building. All horizontal dimensions shall be taken from the exterior faces of walls including walls or other enclosures of enclosed porches. Whenever the term "gross floor area" is used in this title as a basis for requiring off-street parking for any structure, it shall be assumed that, unless otherwise stated, such floor area applies not only to the ground floor area but also to any additional stories or basement of such structure."

4) Section 23.78.030(3) is hereby amended to read in full as follows:

"Section 23.78.030(3) Offices, medical-dental. Six and five-tenths (6.5) spaces per 1000 square feet of gross floor area."

5) There is added Section 23.78.035 to read in full as follows:

"Section 23.78.035 Calculation of Parking Spaces Based On Adjusted Gross Floor Area. The Planning Commission may approve the use of adjusted gross floor area as a basis for the determination of required parking in those instances where a proposed building design allocates space to uses (such as elevators, foyers and indivisible corridors) which do not contribute, as a practical matter, to building occupancy and where, in the opinion of the Planning Commission, the failure to calculate required parking on the adjusted gross floor area would result in an excessive number of parking spaces."

PASSED AND ADOPTED THIS 17th DAY OF AUGUST, 1976.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PLACENTIA ADOPTING A MASTER PLAN OF THOROUGHFARE IMPROVEMENTS FOR ARTERIAL HIGHWAYS AND ESTABLISHING AN ACREAGE FEE TO DEFRAY THE COST OF IMPROVEMENTS CONTAINED THEREIN PER CHAPTER 22.57 OF THE PLACENTIA MUNICIPAL CODE.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Placentia adopted ad Circulation Element of the Placentia General Plan by Resolution 75-R-146 on July 15, 1975; and,

WHEREAS, the City Engineer of the City of Placentia has prepared a map entitled "Master Plan of Thoroughfare Improvements for Arterial Highways" attached hereto as Exhibit A; and

WHEREAS, said Master Plan designates certain improvements consisting of traffic signals, traffic signal interconnections, bridge and culverts on Placentia's arterial highways which benefit the residents of the City equally; and

WHEREAS, the City Engineer of the City of Placentia has prepared a cost estimate for the master planned improvements designated on attached Exhibit A; and

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held on August 3, 1976 pertaining to the matters presented herein.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PLACENTIA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The Master Plan of Thoroughfare Improvements for Arterial Highways, attached herein as Exhibit A, is hereby adopted as the official master plan for traffic signals, traffic signal interconnections, bridges and culverts.

SECTION II. The boundaries of the area of benefit from such master planned improvements are hereby designated as the City limits of the City and all residents are deemed to benefit equally from such improvements.

SECTION III. An acreage fee for the purpose of defraying the actual or estimated cost of constructing improvements designated as part of the adopted master plan is hereby established at $480 per acre. This fee shall be reviewed annually by the City Council.

SECTION IV. The adopted acreage fee shall be assessed upon all properties in the area of benefit per Section 22.57.030 of the Municipal Code. Fees may be waived under certain conditions per Section 22.57.050 of the Municipal Code.

Tuffree Students Tie Up Ribbons

Shop students from Tuffree Junior High School in Placentia nearly swept the junior high awards at this year's Orange County Fair.

The seventh and eighth graders garnered 19 individual awards in their competitions, breaking last year's record of 14 awards, according to teacher Harvey Callaghan.

Tuffree entries took all three top ribbons in four divisions. Winners in woods are Richard Haurlan, first for a chess board; Jeff Smith, second for a planter; and Ed DeFerrante, third for a chess board.

Woodcarving winners are Chuck Dougherty, first for a fish; Leonard Ramos, second for a fish; and Jeff Klise, third for a leaf bowl. Wood turning winners Mitch Hall, Tod Von Sprecken and Kent Kinsala all entered bowls.

Sweeping the electronics division were Robert Rissi, first for a strobe light; Aaron Carr, second for a continuity checker; and Doug Barker, third for a "decision maker."

First place ribbons also went to Brian Siler, who won for a house model in the drafting division, and Jill Jurgens, who earned a first in batik.

Also winning awards were Steve Chavez and Wayne Garn, second and third in metal; Mike Wolfe, second in crafts; and Kimberly McAfee and Roy Day, second and third in macrame hangings.

Teachers for the students are Harvey Callaghan, woods and metals, and Bill Binning, electronics and drafting.

Brittingham To Replace John Myers

Don Brittingham, assistant principal at Tuffree Junior High School in Placentia, was named to a similar position at El Dorado High School last week. The appointment was effective immediately.

The 32-year-old administrator replaces John Myers, who resigned to take a position in another district.

Brittingham has been with the Placentia Unified School District since 1966--taking a two-year leave to serve in the U.S. Army--as a social science teacher and tennis coach at Valencia High School, an administrative assistant at Bernardo Yorba Junior High and assistant principal at Tuffree.

He earned his B.S. and M.S. degree in education at the University in Southern California. He and his wife Shari live in Norco with their sons, Eric, 7, and Eron, 3.

Edna Dunlap Property Division OKed

Petition from Edna Kraemer Dunlap, to divide the 8 acres where her home stands on the southeast corner of Alta Vista Street and Kraemer Drive, Placentia, into three lots, was Unanimously granted by the Placentia Planning Commission Tuesday night.

The division leaves the Dunlap home on 4.5 acres in the center with 1.1 and 1.3 acre segments on either side. The properties are expected to be developed into homes by S and S Construction (Shapell Industries).

The action will now be forwarded to the city council for its approval.

English Second Language Lessons Start

The Placentia office of Social Services announces the start of two classes in English As A Second Language, at the Whitten Community Center, 900 S. Melrose on Monday, Sept. 13, and Wednesday Sept. 15 from 7 to 10 p.m.

The classes will be offered by the Adult Division of the North Orange County Community College District and are open to anyone who desires to learn English and improve their everyday communication skills.

Students may register at the first class meeting.

For further information please call the office of Social Services at 993-8178.

RECOGNITION

Placentia Unified School District Board of Trustees recognized 19 students from Tuffree who won awards in industrial arts and crafts at Orange County Fair.

Limit Placed On New Use

An effort to turn a Christmas Tree Farm in Atwood into a site for a landscaping business, was restricted to a five year use Tuesday night by the Placentia Planning Commission. The area is zoned for industrial development.

Applicant Clifford Tanamachi, Whittier, requested a ten year permit because of the investment required to establish the use. Tanamachi pointed out that he would have the costs of purchasing the property; $10,000 to $20,000 for street improvements required; $15,000 for a building on the acreage and a structure for parking vehicles.

The applicant also was required to provide a slatted chain link fence around the property with oleander plantings outside and greenery inside. The property would be used, the application stated, for storage of trees and shrubs, bagged fertilizer, mulch and gravel and depot for equipment such as tractors, trenchers and trucks.

The property is located at Sierra Vista Avenue, a residential area, and Van Buren Street.

Planning commissioners debated over whether to allow a five or 10 year use and over the stipulation for a slatted fence. The petition was finally approved by a 5 to 2 vote, requiring the fence and limiting the request to five years. The use would be for an interim period only, to allow industrial development as soon as possible, according to the master plan, staff explained.

Rural Homes Approved

An application by Robert Main of Garden Grove, to built nineteen homes on 12.5 acres near Rose Drive and Imperial Highway, recently the site of proposed high density apartments, met with unanimous approval by Placentia City Council Tuesday night.

The property has long been in contention between owners, the city and adjacent property residents who live on acreages and is still in litigation in the courts, City Attorney Charles Post III advised applicant Main Tuesday.

After the section was annexed into the city of Placentia and zoning designated, Fredricks Development Corporation, Anaheim planned a 25-unit to the acre, 268-unit apartment development which adjoining property owners strongly protested.

Main detailed that there are still several hurdles left to the assured development of the proposed 19 homes which would be built around a 1,000 foot long cul-de-sac. Among these are "getting the sewer out to Imperial Highway" and the building of access roads, he outlined.

McCalley Named Supervisor

John McCalley has been named to the new position of supervisor of the Vocational Intern Program (VIP) in the Placentia Unified School District beginning August 23.

He comes from a position of education occupations with the North Orange County Regional Occupational Program.

Major responsibilities in the new job include setting up and supervising the federally funded VIP program in which students will receive on-the-job training working with employees in the school district.

The program is funded for three years under the Title IV-C Project, and was brought into the Placentia district by Charles Arnoldt, coordinator of vocational and career education.

McCalley has worked in the Regional Occupational Program since 1974 and has taught work experience classes at Golden West College and Garden Grove Unified School District. He was also involved in the staff training program at Disneyland for five years.

He holds the master's degree in education from Pepperdine University and a B.A. degree in speech from California State University, Fullerton.

A resident of Westminster, McCalley has served in workshops and seminars for public service groups including the Junior Achievers, Parent-Teacher Association, and Community Recreation.

The Placentia Recreation Department is announcing a new registration procedure for the fall enrollment of classes.

On Saturday, September 18, registration for the fall schedule of classes will be held from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the Backs Building, 201 N. Bradford for Placentia residents only.

Placentia residents may continue to register on Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Recreation Office, 117 N. Main Street. Proof of residency is required.

Beginning Tuesday, September 21 non-residents may register at the Recreation Office from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The new procedure has been implemented to better the services to residents of Placentia, the department stated this week.

Michael Sweet Receives Honor

STOCKTON—An honor award at University of the Pacific for the 1976-77 school year has been granted to Michael D. Sweet, El Dorado High School graduate.

E. Leslie Medford Jr., dean of admissions, announced that President's Honors at Entrance awards have been presented to those freshmen whose grade point average is 3.5 or higher on a 4.0 scale. The award is worth $100 to the student and is determined on the basis of academic achievement.

UOP is California's first chartered institution of higher education. It is comprised of four liberal arts colleges, including three cluster colleges, four professional schools (pharmacy, music, education and engineering) and a graduate school -- all on its Stockton campus.

Street Section Parking To Be Prohibited

Stopping at any time for motor vehicles on sections of Yorba Place and Linda Vista Street in Placentia, will be forbidden by action of a split vote of the Placentia City Council Tuesday.

Councilwoman Virginia Farmer was the dissenting vote because, she stated of the need for parking at a medical facility in the area. Also discussed was the parking situation at the Sherwood Village Homes immediately adjacent.

Sections of the streets involved included Yorba Place adjacent to Yorba Linda Boulevard where the street is not fully improved and the curved roadway at Yorba Place and Linda Vista where, city staff, reports there is a visibility problem.

PLACENTIA'S SIXTH ANNUAL doll show brought an enthusiastic response from young mothers eager to show off their doll offspring. Rag dolls were big favorites along with a variety of types of other children. Prize ribbons were presented in a number of categories from bride dolls to baby dolls. At the left is part of the collection WINNING the top prizes [pictured at the left] are Queen Kathy Dempster, 9 for prettiest doll and her rag doll; First Princess Michell Leverette, 7, for her old fashioned doll; Third Princess Chris Cordell for her foreign dolls; Toni Chacon, 9, receives the award for Second Princess Elissa Cisneros' homemade doll and Honorary Queen Nikki Nay, 7, for her entire display.

YL District Drops Tax

President Fred Clodt reported this week that the Board of Directors of the Yorba Linda County Water District has authorized and adopted the tax rate for the ensuing year and for the tenth straight year the tax has dropped.

This year the drop was 10.5 per cent or four cents per hundred, making the tax rate 34 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The district services a section of Placentia.

When the district was formed the tax rate was 79 cents per $100 assessed valuation. It now is 34 cents for $100 assessed valuation, a drop of 45 cents in the 16 year period.

Shakespeare's Shrewd Show

BY PAUL D. ARCHIPLEY

"Kiss me Kate." I must be dreaming. Rising from the intellectual void of TV and cinema offal is one of those rare opportunities to witness some entertainment with class.

Via the efforts of a generally fine cast of actors under the direction of Austin Peay, and produced by the Anaheim Parks, Recreation and Arts Department, comes William Shakespeare's ribald comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew."

Opening last weekend at the Pearson Park Amphitheatre, and playing this Thursday through Saturday at the ridiculously reasonable price of a dollar, this Shakespearean classic (aren't they all?) is presented at a breakneck pace that gives the viewer few moments to catch his breath between laughs.

You won't find any Richard Burtons or Katherine Hepburns commanding the stage, but this cast is no assemblage of amateurs, either. Creditable performances are offered throughout. Especially notable are Susan Boster as Katharina, the Shrew; Steve Barr as Kate's husband, Petruchio; Scott Freeman as Gremio, one of a host of suitors; and Don Evans as Baptista, the Shrew's father.

To the credit of all of the actors, the production moves at a high energy level throughout. If there is criticism to be offered at all (and any self-respecting reviewer must find something about which to be critical), then let it be leveled at the sometimes garbled diction, a forgiveable flaw considering that Shakespeare's English is practically a foreign language today, and possibly some of the staging, which occasionally resembles a cross between acrobatics and burlesque.

Minor opprobriums both, and far overshadowed by an otherwise hilarious evening under the stars.

Switch off the boobtube this weekend and cajole the family to a summer re-run worth seeing. Shakespearean novices need not be "bard."

The curtain rises at 8 p.m. More information at 533-5278.

Sex Discrimination Policy Adopted

A policy prohibiting sex discrimination against students and employees has been adopted by trustees of the Placentia Unified School District.

The policy, adopted to comly with Title IX federal legislation, broadens the scope of the district's Affirmative Action policy, which prohibits any type of discrimination against employees, to cover sex discrimination against students, too.

"Equal opportunities must be afforded to all persons in admission to schools and programs; access to and treatment in all programs and activities; administration of regulations on student benefits, services, conduct and dress; hiring practices; and terms, conditions and benefits of employement," explained Eugene Dorn, the district's Title IX coordinator.

In student programs, areas which are being studied and revised are curriculum, counseling, treatment of students, student marital and parental status, athletics, physical education and student clubs and activities.

Employment areas include recruiting practices, hiring and promotions, pay, job assignments, leaves of absence and benefits and training.

"If the district is found in violation of any of the articles in Title IX, a grievance may be filed with the school principal or immediate superior," Dorn explained.

All schools in the district underwent a self evaluation of programs and practices last spring to find areas in which possible violations were occurring, Dorn said.

Any school district not in compliance with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 may become ineligible for federal funding of programs, he added.

Questions concerning the district's Title IX policy or programs should be directed to Dorn at the District Education Center, 1301 E. Orangethorpe Avenue, Placentia.

Burglary Program Starts

An intensified crime prevention program will be underway October 1, encompassing the four northern Orange County cities of Placentia, Yorba Linda, La Habra and Brea.

The objective of the project, headquartered at the Placentia Civic Center, is to reduce burglaries by utilizing various methods of residential security.

Beginning this fall, Community Services Officers (CSO) will be deployed to contact residents of the target areas. These uniformed civilians will voluntarily inspect your home for potential security hazards and recommend preventive methods.

They will urge you to mark and record your property with your driver's license number, and will provide engraving pens for that purpose. Not only will the CSO's be available on a door-to-door basis, but they will contact service organizations for speaking engagements on burglary prevention.

In conjunction with these two activities they will distribute information pamphlets to residents of the participating cities containing suggestions for building security. For more information please contact the Quad City Crime Prevention Unit weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 993-8225.

BEARS WATCHING

Despite its great size and lumbering image, the grizzly bear can run at speeds of 30 miles per hour. A full-grown grizzly weighs around 800 pounds and stands as tall as eight feet on its hind legs.

QUAD CITY PROGRAM to cut burglaries in Placentia, Yorba Linda, Brea and La Habra, will be under the supervision of Placentia Police Agent Roger Gisler, a ten-year veteran with the Placentia Police Department. The program will begin around October 1.

Party For Privette

The Committee for the Election of Tom Privette will sponsor "An Evening of Conviviality", in honor of Privette, on Friday evening, August 27 from 7 to 11 p.m. at the University Club, 1220 N. State College Blvd., Fullerton.

Members of the committee for the event include from Yorba Linda and Placentia; Charles Lueder, Roland Bigonger, George Sullivan, and Rick Norris.

Music will be provided by the Grand Jury Probes. Tickets are priced at $7.50 per person, $3 for students and senior citizens, and may be purchased at the door.

Privette, an Orange County deputy district attorney, is a candidate for municipal court judge.

School Patrons Bring Gifts

More than $40,000 worth of materials and equipment were given to schools in the Placentia Unified School District during the past year by individuals, businesses and parent support groups.

Cash values put on most new items donated to schools totaled $36,573.73, but many things, both new and old, were given without assigned values, explained Supt. John O. Tynes.

"The generosity of patrons in our district never ceases to amaze me," said John Press, president of the board of education. Donations must be accepted by the board and lists totaling several thousand dollars worth of items usually appear on the agenda for each board meeting.

The bulk of the donations came from school parent-teacher associations and booster clubs, with the former contributing $15,223 worth of equipment and materials and the booster groups $13,956 in goods.

Donations which did not have assigned cash values included a freezer and a refrigerator given to Fairmont Elementary School, a trombone and tape recorder purchased by Yorba Instrumental Parents Group, an electrostatic copier and supplies given to El Camino Real High School and 16 trees given to McFadden Elementary School by the Isaak Walton League, Anaheim chapter.

The largest single donation came from Daryl and Jeff Sweet, owners of the Pro-am Golf and Tennis Shop, who gave $5,000 worth of carpet and padding to the El Dorado High School athletic department.

Other large gifts to district schools included two 16mm projectors at $1,000 each from El Dorado Football Boosters, $1,107 laminating machine from Glenview/Orchard PTA and a $1,700 score board from Esperanza Aquatic Boosters.

Students also contributed to their school resources, with Tuffree Junior High student body giving $2,930 for stage curtains, construction of a student store and oil paintings for their library.

"We greatly appreciate all the things that have been given to our schools during the year," Tynes said. "Donations often provide children with extras, and sometimes necessities, which the district could not otherwise afford."

RESERVES

The Placentia Unified School District has authorized a Cafeteria Equipment Replacement Reserve Fund of $1000 a month.

Home Ec Classes Start

The Placentia office of Social Services announces the start of two new classes in Consumer Education, Home Economics and Sewing.

The bilingual classes will be offered by the Adult Division of the North Orange County Community College District. The courses are open to anyone in the community who is interested in more economical ways to cook, sew, remodel clothing, provide good family nutrition or make wise purchases of food, clothing, furniture.

Those wishing to enroll may enter at anytime. Child care is available for children 2 to 6 years of age.

The classes will be offered at the Gomez Community Center, 1701 Atwood Avenue on Monday, Sept. 13, 7 to 10 p.m. and at the Whitten Community Center, 900 S. Melrose Avenue, on Friday, Sept. 17, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Placentia Office of Social Services at 993-8178.

Contest Winners Chosen

The Junior Round Table of Placentia recently named the winners in their fire hydrant painting contest for the months of June and July.

For representational: The Brannon family, for their American eagle located at Longfellow Avenue and Bastanchury Road and Karen Bostright, Michel Avenue off Bastanchury Road, for her Minnie Mouse sewing the Betsy Ross Flag.

In the Non-Representational field winners included: Mary and Steve Pawluk, Carlton and Somerset, and Girl Scout Troop #253, Morse School. They both used red, white and blue themes.

Residents may pick any hydrants within the city of Placentia. The contest has been extended to December instead of September as previously stated, and Juniors would like to encourage applicants to paint some that are still available on the main streets (Kraemer and Yorba Linda Blvd.) as well as those on their local streets. Monthly winners will be picked. All previously done hydrants will be included in each months competition. An overall winner will be picked at the end of the contest.

Applications will be available at the Bank of America (Yorba Linda Blvd and Kramer) and The Water Company (130 N. Bradford). For further information contact Barbara Reed, 993-2168.

Poly Graduates Local Students

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona has conferred baccalaureate degrees on more than 2,100 students in one of the university's six schools: agriculture, art, business administration, engineering, environmental design and science.

Included on the list are Stephanie Hurley of Placentia and Keith Haworth, Juergen Milczewsky and David Shields of Yorba Linda. Wayne G. Freeman, Yorba Linda received a master of arts in education.

Cadet Cowan Graduates

Cadet Thomas J. Cowan, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Cowan, 1707 Cartlen, Placentia, recently completed six weeks of training in fundamental military skills at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps basic camp at Ft. Knox, Ky.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualified high school graduates for the ROTC program at any one of the nation's six military junior colleges.

Cadet Cowan, a student at New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, is one of more than 48,000 cadets from colleges and universities across the nation enrolled in Army ROTC training.

He is a 1976 graduate of El Dorado High School.
